

Yoper V2 Development (2.9.1) Released, includes the new KDE Beta 2

2004-07-23

Yoper, a Linux Distribution for i686 and higher aimed to be fast and optimized, announced v2.9.1, the projects first unstable release since 2.0.

The Yoper team is pleased to announce the first development release (unstable) of the fastest out-of-the-box Linux after the successful release of 2.0.0. This release contains KDE-3.3-beta2, which in our testing has shown to be very stable already. Those of you who want to try the new kde beta and install it in under 5 minutes, then this release is for you. More at yoper.com
